CROSBY S. NOYES ... Editor. Average sworn Daily Circulation over 17,500-being more than three times that of any other daily paper in Washington, and more than that of all the others added together.

Did it ever occur to anybody that some of the opposition to the present plan of the Washington monument may come from the fact that it is so plain and simple in its design that it affords no "pickings" for "artistic" displays, no "margin" for middle men, lobbyists, etc., and no chance for a claim for "extras" after it shall be completed? The plan proposed has been adopted by the people of the country, because, like the character of the man it is insimple, grand, and impressive. Appropriately enough, too, all the work upon it can be done by competent stone-cutters of the ordinary type, who sadly need the work that could thus be given them. More than that, if the money be appropriated promptly, the whole structure could be completed in a comparatively short time; whereas, if a fancy design be adopted instead, only a limited number of experts could be employed on it, and the work would thus drag along for twenty years or more, and cost ten times as much as the shaft now under way. Let it therefore be built as begun, and if afterward the artists, landscape gardeners and dilletanti of the country think they must have a French triumphal arch or a Chinese pagoda, let them raise the money and build that too.

Those who urge the necessity of a reorganization of our District courts find an additional argument in the singular rulings of Judge Humphreys yesterday in the Kelly-Myer case. Judge Humphreys is undoubtedly honest and conscientious, and this fact has caused a large toleration of his eccentric and undignified proceedings on the bench, but he is now putting altogether too heavy a strain on the public

There is a good prospect that we are to have more competition in telegraphing. A new company styled the Continental, has recently been organized under the laws of the state of New York, with a capital of $10,000,000, which proposes to put up lines between the principal cities of the country and put down prices at once. The line between Boston and Washington, via New York and Philadelphia, is to consist at the start of five wires, No. 6 in size, instead of No. 9, generally used, and will be ready for work between New York and this city inside of three months. The past experience with opposition lines does not justify much hope of their usefulness in the far future, but we welcome the appearance of new competitors all the same. While they last the public is assured not only lower prices but better service from the old lines.

The suggestive facts that Hon. Stanley Matthews used to be counsel for Col. Scott or his Pacific railroad project, and that he is now chairman of a sub-committee to which the two Pacific railroad bills have been referred, are being commented upon by some of the irreverent newspapers of the country.
